

To Whom It May Concern:

Blueline Safety recently retained the services of Lead Generators International to conduct a telemarketing campaign.

From the very start of our business relationship until the contract was completed we have been incredibly impressed with Lead Generators commitment to customer service and consistent business integrity.

At every step of the way we received constant contact to ensure their staff was doing the best job possible. In addition we found them to be very receptive to constructive feedback.

Our company uses Salesforce.com to track all sales activities and Lead Generators went above and beyond by adopting their standard calling/recording process to meet our online tracking needs. This not only took additional time to learn (that we were never billed for), but patience as their staff was trained in how to follow our system.

I highly recommend Tyler Dawson and the services of Lead Generators if your company is serious about working with a high quality business.

Sincerely,
